My hammer attack horror – victim, 63

RAYMOND BROWN

THE owner of Sturmer Hall has spoken out after a "vicious" and unprovoked hammer attack in Cambridge left him in hospital.

Daniel Hannan, 63, owner and manager of the venue near Haverhill, was attacked as he queued up to buy chicken nuggets in a takeaway.

James Munnelly, 31, of Cherry Hinton Road, handed himself into police after our sister paper Cambridge News published CCTV images of him following a police manhunt.

Munnelly, who had a baby in a buggy with him, had taken a bizarre exception to Mr Hannan parking in a designated space outside Fish'n'Chick'n takeaway in Cherry Hinton Road, Cambridge.

While Mr Hannan went into the takeaway, Munnelly took the child to the nearby pub, The Rock, before returning to the takeaway with other men, who have not been charged.

Mr Hannan was attacked from behind, then beaten as he lay unconscious.

"I am completely calm in these situations where you have someone hurling abuse at you because of my job," the victim said.

"He was shouting and swearing. I turned away and just waved my hand. He said if my van wasn't gone by the time he got back I was a dead man.

"I am diabetic and had to have some food so went into the takeaway. He came in and attacked me from behind with what we believe was a hammer.

"He missed my head but hit my shoulder and I fell unconscious. I am told he beat and kicked me as I lay on the ground.

"I woke up in an ambulance and was taken to hospital. The damage is so severe the tendon in my shoulder was ripped. The blow must have been horrific. He severely damaged my jaw and I lost seven teeth. I love tennis and was going to retire and spend my days playing it but my arm is so damaged I can't throw a ball up.

"I want to thank the News for publishing this man's picture because without that I think he would not have handed himself in.

"I want to thank the police and the witnesses brave enough to give evidence.

"If he can attack a man in his 60s in broad daylight for absolutely no reason, I fear for other people."

The assault happened at about 5.30pm on Monday, September 29.

Munnelly pleaded guilty to grievous bodily harm at Peterborough Crown Court last Friday and will be sentenced on March 20.

A spokeswoman for Cambridgeshire Police said: "This was an extremely nasty attack which left the victim with serious injuries and needing extensive post medical care and treatment.

She added: "I hope this result allows his victim some closure as he continues to recover from the ordeal."

Were you asked about centre move?

CONCERNS have been raised over the transfer of a community centre's ownership to a church.

Local man John Burns asked questions at Haverhill Town Council about why residents near Chalkstone Community Centre hadn't been more thoroughly consulted about its transfer to the River of Life Community Church.

He said: "I understand that it has been effectively given to the River of Life. I would just like to see more consultation.

"Even the people actually in Strasbourg Square haven't been consulted."

Cllr Roger André, mayor, said the town council "fully concurs" that more consultation should have been done – and that it expects St Edmundsbury Borough Council to do so.

The town council had looked at the centre previously, he added, but was not consulted on this transfer.

It is also not the role of the council to "compete" with other community groups, he said.

A borough council spokesman confirmed that the church was the only group to come forward with a "viable plan", and that the council made a decision to transfer ownership of all its community centres in Haverhill to community groups.

Family vow to raise cash for ward that helped little Bella

DEBRA FOX

A COUPLE who are "living on the edge" with their daughter's illness are raising money for the ward that has helped her.

Little Bella Nicholls suffers from neutropenia – a rare blood condition which means she is more susceptible to infection.

The 18-month-old toddler was diagnosed last year after breaking out in boils, and being put on different antibiotics for more than a fortnight to try and heal them.

Mum Sara wants to raise more awareness of the condition – which could leave her daughter seriously ill if she goes down with an infection.

"It is hard as a parent because you just feel so hopeless – but things could be a lot worse," she said.

"It is such a rare disease so it would be nice to raise awareness and get some money for the ward as well."

Bella was most recently released from Addenbrooke's on Friday, after being taken in earlier last week.

Sara and husband Dan, who live on Haverhill's Hales Barn estate, want to thank the staff and families at the hospital's C2 ward, where their daughter stayed.

The ward is specifically for children with leukaemia and other blood conditions, and some patients can stay there for as long as six months.

"It is such a lovely ward," Sara said. "The staff are brilliant and there's a playroom and a personal chef who will cook whatever the children want but there are so many poorly children."

"We would love to get some sensory toys or just something to give back."

Dan, who is 35, is about to start training for a sponsored run which will start at the family's home and end at Addenbrooke's, FAMILY: Sara and Dan Nicholls with daughters Bella and Leah.

almost 16 miles.

A date for the run is yet to be fixed – but the couple are counting on the public's support to try and make a difference to those on the C2 ward.

Little Bella, who has a 5-year-old sister Leah, cannot attend nursery or mix with children who could be carrying an infection because of the risk to her health.

"It is the uncertainty and the worry that's the worst," Sara added.

"We can't risk anything, Bella is in her own bubble."

When she's not suffering with infection, Bella loves to dance and play much like any other toddler.

Some of the other children in the ward who have played with and looked after Bella while in the hospital have "touched" the family's heart, and strengthened the ambition to fundraise.

Appeal after vandals paint cars red, white and blue

HALF a dozen cars and a post box have been covered in paint over one weekend.

The incidents happened overnight between Saturday and Sunday at four separate streets in Haverhill.

Three cars and a post box were tar-getted with white paint in Western Avenue, and a further car was targeted while parked in Queensway.

Red paint was thrown over a car in the town's Ash Grove, and blue paint hit a car in Beech Grove.

More than £4,000 damage has been caused to the cars as a result of the incidents.

Anyone with information should contact Haverhill Safer Neighbourhood Team on 101.

You can also call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

DIRTY WORK: Some of the locations in Haverhill which the town council thinks could do with a clean up.

Firms are asked to help make the town shine

BUSINESSES are being encouraged to don their rubber gloves and give their community a clean.

The Community Clean Up, which is taking place in Haverhill on March 20 and 21, has been organised by Haverhill Town Council on behalf of ONE Haverhill.

Residents, families and businesses alike are being asked to pick a particular area, or job, and spend a bit of their free time tidying.

Colin Poole, town clerk, is asking businesses to clean up where they are and make a difference.

"We want people to give this town a shine, and that includes local businesses," he said.

"But for once, we don't want their money and we don't want businesses to send their staff to clear a playing field or the local woodland.

"We are asking that they spend 30 minutes clearing the rubbish from around their bins and putting it in the bins."

Much of the work which could be done around retailers and other businesses could be seen as "self-interest" to ensure their first image to the public is a good one, Mr Poole added.

Equipment, gloves and high visibility clothing can be provided by the town council to volunteers – but just let them know what work you are intending to take on.

Mr Poole has also suggested litter picking, grass cutting and sign scrubbing as ideal jobs to be carried out over the two days.

But participants are being reminded to stay safe, not take risks and contact the council if the job seems too big to take on.

Staff at Haverhill arts centre will also be grabbing their mops and buckets to take part too.

Mr Poole said: "The arts centre isn't perfect, but our staff are signed up to tackle our problem areas."

"So come on, businesses of Haverhill, take the opportunity to use March 20 and 21 to tackle these jobs that need to be done."

"You will have a much better environment to work in."

Quiz masters raise cash for hospice funds

EIGHT teams put their knowledge to the test in a challenging charity quiz.

Held at the Burton Centre, in Haverhill's Camps Road, the quiz attracted 40 people who tried their best at a range of testing questions all in the name of St Nicholas Hospice Care.

The charity took over the Burton Centre in 2014, and it is now an outreach facility.

Outpatient services are provided there, as well as a number of activities for patients with life-threatening illnesses and their families.

Guests at the quiz, which cost £10 and also included a fish and chip supper, raised £360 to go straight to the charity.

Jordan Hughes, community fundraiser, said: "It was a really good night. The quiz seemed challenging and people were really engaged with it. We hope to do it again in the future."

The centre is also used as a community facility by a number of groups, including the Brownies.

St Nicholas Hospice Care recently held a number of engagement sessions at the centre, with members of the public encouraged to attend and share their views on services.

A project is also under way to bring a new community garden to the centre. Once opened, it will be available for a range of activities.

Get Strictly fit with new dance class

A POPULAR taster class has led to the launch of a new work out near Haverhill.

Led by Anne Catchpole, regular FitSteps classes – based on the moves of Strictly Come Dancing – are starting in West Wratting this weekend.

Championed by professional dancers and Strictly stars Ian Waite and Natalie Lowe, and supported by Olympic swimmer Mark Foster, who took part in the show, the workout takes steps from a range of dances to make for fun and high energy exercise.

Five class dates have been set, and after these initial sessions a regular Saturday morning class will start from 9.15am.

The first classes are on Saturday, March 28, April 4, April 11 and April 25.

They will take place at the village hall.

Sessions also take place in Haverhill every Thursday from 7.30pm until 8.15pm at the New Croft and Linton at The Grip on Tuesdays and Fridays.

If you want to find out more about the West Wratting classes email fitsteps.annec@gmail.com.

Clare 'one of best places in country'

CLARE has been chosen as one of the top 20 rural locations in the country to live.

The Suffolk town made it into the top 20 places on a list of 50, compiled by the Sunday Times in association with Zoopla.

At number 13 in the list, the town was described as having "period properties and rich history without the chocolate-box perfection – and the coach trips".

Cllr Alaric Pugh represents Clare on St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

He said: "It is very exciting news and totally understandable."

"It's a real community, and we have a thing called a 'Clare moment' where you can go out for around two minutes to buy a loaf of bread and you're never out for less than half an hour because of meeting people to chat to."

Clare was praised for its 50 minute drive distance from

DEBRA FOX

Cambridge, and regular train service to London Liverpool Street from nearby Sudbury station.

Its pubs, cafes antique shops and schools were also recognised – as was its museum, which is in one of the town's "many medieval houses".

"It has all the complexities of a small community and they are not idyllic – but they are very exciting," Cllr Pugh added.

"It is like Haverhill in the regard that it has buildings from every era that we have had buildings."

The article revealed the average house price is £317,963, and said Clare has "good looks and a great backstory".

Ickleton, near Saffron Walden, made it to 21 in the list.

The Sunday Times is to run a second piece listing the 50 best urban places to live in Britain.

TOP RATING: Clare was placed at number 13 in the top 20 rural places to live in the country.

KIND HEART: Joni pictured at her February fundraiser.

Girl sets next EACH challenge

A KEEN fundraiser is gearing up for her next event.

Joni André, who is 9 and attends Burton End Primary Academy, started 2015 with the hope of raising as much money for East Anglian Children's Hospice (EACH) as she could.

The schoolgirl plans to hold an event each month – with March dedicated to a pamper day and spa session at Sonia's Hair and Beauty.

Joni said: "I'm very grateful for Sonia's support and am looking forward to a brilliant evening of fundraising."

It's on March 18.

Joni hopes to raise £300 in total – and is more than half way there.

In February, she held a special Valentine's sale at her school selling heart-shaped treats to friends and parents.

End of era for SNT meetings

DEBRA FOX AND HANNAH MIRSKY

QUARTERLY meetings to discuss Haverhill's policing issues will no longer take place.

The next Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting was scheduled for next week – but the events have been cancelled with immediate effect.

Inspector Peter Ferrie, Haverhill's policing commander, has said that within three months the force will start engaging with the public in new and exciting ways.

"We need to change the way that we are working, and part of that will be to decide the SNT in a different way," he said.

"We have always blazed the trail in Haverhill, and we are looking to come up with a better method to be used across the force."

The town's SNT officers have already begun work on bigger policing and crime issues, which will take the team's focus in the future.

During the course of meetings, officers have dealt with lesser offences such as parking.

Now they will take the lead on tackling cybercrime, domestic violence and ensuring victims are properly cared for following an offence.

The inspector gave a statement at Haverhill Town Council on Tuesday; with councillors having mixed views on how the SNT will move forward.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, said: "The feedback from residents was they got to know their local police officers, they got to know Inspector Ferrie."

"They could say to their children, 'if you've got problems the police are approachable and friendly'."

"The officers of the SNT obviously had a job to do, but the benefits were they could put more resources into what we identified."

Cllr Pat Hanlon, who was previously involved in the running of the meetings, told colleagues that the decision had come from "higher up in the police federation" – and that the force has savings to make.

He added: "That's why they've got to do away with it completely and concentrate their resources in other areas."

Other comments included whether or not someone else could run the meetings to stop them from being disbanded completely, what other impacts the cutbacks will have and what Tim Passmore, police and crime commissioner, could do to engage.

Though Haverhill is one of the first forces to cease its quarterly meetings, the move will continue across Suffolk, Inspector Ferrie added.

"Rather than walking up Hamlet Road giving out parking tickets, [the officers] will spend more time trying to reduce the bigger crime issues in the town," he said.

He added: "I would love to have a real debate about what the best way of engaging is and see how more people can get involved."

Ideas so far include using the mobile police station, setting up a market stall and taking a regular slot at the town council.

County, borough and town councillors are already involved in discussions and engagement will take place with pupils at Samuel Ward Academy.

I like the sculpture!

BEING a resident of Haverhill for the past 27 years I would like to express an opinion on the Spirit of Enterprise sculpture.

I like the sculpture – it's a kind of beacon on returning home!

I am of the opinion that some people like to poo-poo certain things without any real reason and then it becomes the popular thing to do.

It's good that the sculpture invites so much public debate.

Lights caused delays

I AM sure many local people have been annoyed by the traffic lights on Withersfield Road.

Why were they not made to move them – there was a very small patch on the pavement, that should have been filled Friday, it was there Saturday morning as was the van.

When I returned a couple of hours later, the traffic was back half a mile.

I'm glad I was walking.

Now the hole is finished and the van gone, all this perhaps, so he could get some overtime!

The council should not allow this, especially for the weekend.

Wear purple

PURPLE Day, the international epilepsy awareness raising day, is fast approaching and the Epilepsy Society is hoping local people will back this special day.

Epilepsy is often a 'hidden' condition, but in the UK it affects one in every 100 people. This year on Purple Day, Thursday, March 26, people will wear purple ribbons to show support for everyone living with epilepsy. Purple themed events, such as purple cake bake coffee mornings and purple school mufti days, are also being planned to raise money and awareness of the condition. Anyone wanting to buy a purple ribbon or get involved in Purple Day can visit epilepsysociety.org.uk/purpleday or ring (01494) 601414 for more information.

DLA is the main benefit for disabled children and can transform a family's income by helping to meet the extra costs of raising a disabled child like transport, heating, special food and clothing.

It also helps families feel less alone by giving disabled children the chance to have fun at local activities.

Experience the roaring 20s at Linton Village College

THE world of 1920s Chicago is coming to Linton Village College next week in the musical Buggy Malone.

Around 100 students and staff have been involved in the production as actors, singers, musicians, dancers or behind the scenes in the production and set design team.

The audience will experience the prohibition era at Fat Sam's Grand Slam in the company of Buggy, Blousey, Tallulah and, of course, Fat Sam, with lavish costumes, stunning choreography, a live orchestra and playful gangster themes.

Laura Chiverton, head of drama at the college, said: "The pupils are so excited to be putting on what is going to be a fabulous production. I have been very impressed by their enthusiasm and dedication during a long period of rehearsals.

The show runs from Thursday, March 12, to Saturday, March 14, beginning at 7.30pm in the main hall.

Tickets cost £8 for adults, £6 for concessions and £25 for a family ticket for two adults and two children. They are available from reception.

Have say on options for the town centre

BUSINESSES, families and local residents can share their vision for the future of Haverhill from next week.

A public consultation on a town centre masterplan will be launched on Monday – with a number of events already scheduled to reach as many people as possible.

The announcement came following a decision by councillors at a Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP) meeting to approve an issues and options document for the plan, drawn up by David Lock Associates.

Sarah Howard is chair of ONE Haverhill, which is leading the project.

She said: "The first phase of the masterplan consultation enables the public to see what the planning experts think are the broad issues in the town centre based on past research and plans and add their views and comments.

"This will help to shape the development of a draft masterplan for Haverhill town centre which will be the subject of a further round of consultation in the summer."

Phase one of the consultation will ask what people think of the issues and options raised by David Lock.

This consultation will run until April 17, and questionnaires will soon become available both in hard copy and online.

A drop-in session is being held at Haverhill Arts Centre on March 26, from 10am until 7pm, and the public can also visit the town's market on March 27 and 28 to attend a stall run by the firm.

A number of sessions will also be held with schools and community groups.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Alaric Pugh, ONE Haverhill board member and project lead, praised the work done so far by David Lock.

YOUR VISION: Haverhill town centre.

"I think that this document is one of the best issues and options documents I have seen, wearing my planning hat, produced by anybody," he said.

"It is a particularly difficult job here because the number of consultations previously done and workshops held here is quite enormous."

Questions asked at the meeting included what will happen about pedestrianisation in the High Street, if visualisations will be shown to the public and what could be done about improving the town's road connections.

A draft masterplan will be drawn up and a further round of consultation will run from June 8 until July 17.

Appeal for election candidates

RESIDENTS across West Suffolk will be taking to the polling stations on May 7 to decide who they want to be representing them in St Edmundsbury Borough Council, and in parish and town elections.

Candidates standing as an independent or with a party need 10 nominees from the ward they would like to represent to be in with a chance on the district council, or two nominees for parish or town council elections.

Cllr David Ray, cabinet member for resources, has urged the public to come forward after two information evenings held by St Edmundsbury and partner Forest Heath District Council.

He said: "We have already had two successful information evenings for those thinking of standing as a candidate for the first time.

"It is important that anyone who stands for election, understands the role of a councillor, the commitment and just how much time consuming hard work it actually involves.

"These elections come once every four years. Now is the time to decide whether to stand."

PROTEST: Signatures being collected at Sainsbury's.

Petition is started to save NHS

PROTESTS to save the NHS from privatisation have taken place across the region.

Members of campaigning group 38 Degrees collected signatures at Haverhill's Sainsbury's branch on Saturday.

Among those taking a stand in the town were councillors Roger André, Maureen Byrne, Haverhill's mayor and deputy, and Cllr Pat Hanlon.

Similar demonstrations also took place in Histon, Impington, and at Cambridge's Guildhall, where almost 30 people protested.

David Babbs, executive director of 38 Degrees, said the NHS "belongs to all of us", and that it is the best healthcare system in the world.

He added: "Too many politicians have ignored the doctors and nurses on the front line."

To sign the petition, visit 38degrees.org.uk/nhs.

'Ban dogs from parks in the town'

DEBRA FOX

DOG fouling in Haverhill is so out of hand that the animals should be banned from some of the town's green spaces.

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, made the call at a meeting in response to constant complaints about dog mess.

Damien Parker, leisure and cultural operations manager, reported to councillors at a Haverhill Area Working Party (HAWP) meeting about the authority's work to clean up.

But councillors are still calling for more to combat the problem, and have said that signs, stickers and stencils are not enough.

Suggesting a pet ban on some of the town's green spaces, Cllr Byrne said: "How we would police that I don't know, but I do think that would initially be a deterrent and cut down some of the people who abuse it. I don't think there is another solution for it unless we catch them, name them and shame them."

Mr Parker's report revealed where warnings had been put across Haverhill – and also the number of regular bins and dog bins present in the town.

There are 66 specific dog bins, Mr Parker said, and an additional 216 normal bins. All bins are emptied each week, sometimes more depending on their use.

Cllr Tony Brown said: "It's only a small minority of people who do it, but the council can put up as many stencils and put bins every two feet – we are still going to get this hard core who don't pick up."

"We need to nail some of these people."

Cllr Karen Richardson said that educating schoolchildren could be an answer to the problem.

Sessions could lead to youngsters educating their parents, she said, and get them to realise the seriousness of fouling, and the health implications it can have.

Cllr Anne Gower also asked the committee who can issue fines to those caught not clearing up after their pet, and what the public should do if they see someone.

A council spokesman said that banning dogs was "not enforceable" – and that the authority would work to encourage walkers to use bins.

He added: "We recognise that there are many responsible dog owners who walk their animals in Haverhill, and we need to balance their needs, against those of others who enjoy the town's green spaces."

Joshua's design is a winner

A PUPIL has won a logo design competition at his primary school.

Joshua Moore, 8, who attends Coupals Primary Academy, created the winning design to go onto Friends of Coupals T-shirts and stationery – as well as the group's Facebook page.

Friends of Coupals, a group made up of parents, work hard to organise events across the school, including raffles, discos and book sales.

Children were tasked last month with designing a new logo to represent the group.

The winner was picked by Weekly News editor Wendy Davey last week.

Louise Cohen is group chairman and has two children at the school.

She said: "We felt that Joshua's design depicted school life with friends enjoying themselves."

"I was overwhelmed with the response."

"We had 30 entries and they were all of a very high standard."

"It is clear that the children are very proud of their school."

The primary school,

DEBRA FOX

which officially became an academy in January, has a new mission statement of readiness, honesty and determination.

These new aims played a "significant part" in many of the children's entries, Mrs Cohen added.

"It is heart warming to know that the pupils have taken this new ethos on board," she said.

"As there were many brilliant entries I am looking for other ways to use some of the other logos submitted."

Coupals is now part of the Samuel Ward Academy Trust, which is headed up by executive principal Howard Lay.

The decision to join together came last September, following Coupals most recent Ofsted inspection which rated it "inadequate".

Other Haverhill schools which are part of the partnership include Westfield Primary Academy and Churchill Special Free School.

Success at monthly sale

AN INDOOR car boot sale has raised £130 for the Haverhill Scanner Appeal.

Hosted on the first Sunday of every month by the town's Slimming World Groups, the boot sales choose a different charity to fundraise for every time.

On Sunday, shoppers were out in force at The New Croft to raise as much as possible for the scanner appeal.

Next month, the sale will take place on April 5, Easter Sunday, in aid of Diabetes UK.

It will run from 2pm until 4pm, and entry is free.

Staff recommend hospital

A STAFF survey has revealed that colleagues would recommend West Suffolk Hospital as a place to work.

The 2014 NHS staff survey also revealed that the hospital's workers would recommend it as a place to receive treatment.

West Suffolk has scored in the top 20 per cent of trusts nationally, across 11 key areas.

These include effective team working, staff job satisfaction and incidents of work-related stress.

Jan Bloomfield, director of workforce, said that the hospital will now work to improve areas where performance was not as strong.

Surgery merger on track

A FORTHCOMING merger between two GP surgeries in Haverhill will still take place in April.

Patients at Dr Selby and Partners and Stourview Medical Centre will see their doctors join together to become Haverhill Family Practice.

The decision on the merger was made last year in a bid to improve services at both practices, and support patients in the best way possible.

Andrea Patman, head of primary care in the east at NHS England, has confirmed that everything is still running right on time.

She said: "The GP partners in each of the practices continue to work towards the merger to integrate services which is planned for April 1.

"There is a meeting taking place shortly to discuss progress and consider further options for improving services to patients."

During consultation, patients expressed their concerns about where the new surgery would operate from, but last year it was revealed that both premises would still be in use.

The partnership will lead to an increased range of health services, and more GP choice for those attending the surgeries.

All welcome at first apprenticeship fair

YOUNG people looking to get into work are being invited to a new event.

An apprenticeships fair, hosted by ONE Haverhill, will come to the town next week.

Held at Haverhill Arts Centre on Tuesday, the event is aimed at those aged between 16 to 24 who are not in employment or education.

To date, 80 new apprentice-

DEBRA FOX

ships with local businesses have been created by ONE Haverhill since the appointment of Karen Chapple, youth skills manager.

She said: "It is just amazing the difference that taking part in an apprenticeship has on a young person.

"Businesses in Haverhill have been very supportive of the campaign and I am thrilled with what it has achieved. I love working with young people and helping make a difference."

The fair will coincide with National Apprenticeship Week which launches on Monday and runs until Friday.

ONE Haverhill has worked to provide more opportunities for young people since the publication of the town's community budget in 2013.

The event will run between 11am and 2pm, and will feature businesses looking for apprentices, advice stalls and other support.

For more information, call 07877 142000 or email youth-skillsmanager@onehaverhill.co.uk.

Free course offers help for carers

UNPAID carers are being invited to a free course to help them overcome obstacles.

Run by the Norfolk and Suffolk Palliative Care Academy, the Caring with Confidence initiative will come to Haverhill, starting on March 19.

Sessions are taking place across both counties to provide emotional support and practical advice for those caring for someone.

Maggie Parsons is the project lead.

She said: "This course has been specially designed to give unpaid carers all of the help and support they need to meet the needs of someone reaching the end of their lives."

Six sessions will take place in each location, and will be spread across a four month period.

The programmes are also in partnership with Norfolk Carers Support, the Carers Agency Partnership and Suffolk Family Carers.

Sessions in Haverhill will take place at the Burton Centre.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Get ready for bin changes

A CHANGE to bin collection dates will save residents around £135,000 a year. Around 25,000 households across St Edmundsbury will see a change in the date of their bin collection.

The move will allow the council to provide the same "high levels of service" but deliver more for "each penny of council tax".

Cllr Peter Stevens is the cabinet member for waste management at the borough council.

He said: "Through the rationalising of our routes, we will be able to collect people's brown bins just as regularly and proficiently as before, but with one less vehicle on the road."

"It is the cost associated to the vehicle, that will then achieve the £135,000 saving each year."

The new dates will come into affect on March 9.

Around 8,000 homes in Haverhill will be affected, with the rest of the properties in the Bury St Edmunds area.

For more information visit westsuffolk.gov.uk/brownbinchanges.

Support session for illness

AN INFORMATION session for patients with MS is taking place this month.

The event is taking place at the Memorial Social Centre in Wickhambrook – with patients, carers and families alike invited to attend.

Running between 10am and 3.30pm, the session will include how to access support services, questions and answers, MS progression, and dealing with the emotional side of the illness.

A free lunch is also provided.

To book your place, or for more information, call Suffolk Family Carers, which has organised the event, on (01473) 835466.

SUPPORT: The executive board at Ipswich Building Society.

Charity receives helping hand

A CHARITY which supports local families in crisis has received a helping hand from Ipswich Building Society.

REACH Community Projects, which operates Haverhill's foodbank, furniture bank and debt advice service, was visited by executives from the firm to discuss a business plan and strategy.

The session came as a result of an executive volunteering scheme, launched by the business last year and aimed at supporting community groups and charities.

Henry Wilson, head of community projects at REACH, said the meeting will help the charity "get the most out of our resources" to support those in poverty.

He added: "It was especially useful to gain insights about housing associations and this will help us plan expanding our housing services in the future."

Further work by the company could include helping with fundraising, marketing and other volunteering.

Look at film festival line-up

AN INNOVATIVE festival, organised by a Haverhill native, has announced its eclectic line-up.

Organisers of the Tattoo Arts Film Festival, being held in Saskatoon, Canada, have revealed which movies are joining the bill.

Masterminded by Mark Allard, who previously worked at the town's Cineworld complex, it is the first tattoo genre film festival to take place in Canada.

DEBRA FOX

Tattoo Nation, The Skin I'm In and Tatau - La Culture d'un Art are only some of the screenings in the programme.

Mr Allard previously made a plea to local companies to sign up and support the event, which is taking place next month.

He said: "Tattoo Arts Film Festival has not only turned heads and set a precedent by becoming Canada's first tattoo genre film festival and the world's first dedicated tattoo genre cinema platform event, but, as a film festival, stands to set itself apart as a powerful narrative on social acceptance, tolerance and unity in our current times that call for such narrative."

Haverhill and Suffolk-based companies who choose to get involved in the venture will see their logos on all associated artwork – and, if they make a donation, could see their name added to a credit sequence.

Festival passes cost $50 and are available through picatic.com/TattooArtsFilmFestival.

It is taking place on April 4 and 5.

Rugby club to celebrate golden day

ONE of Haverhill's sports clubs will celebrate its 50th anniversary this year.

Haverhill Rugby Club will reach the golden milestone in May with a gala dinner, a commemorative shirt and a very special fixture all on the agenda so far.

Players will pull on their boots to face off against Harwich and Dovercourt – the club's first ever opponent – to recognise the big birthday on April 11.

There will be a youth fixture, a 1st XV game and a veterans' match.

A dinner for the 50th will take place on May 9.

Chris Spencer, club chairman, said: "The club wants to re-create the success of those events again to mark its half century."

If you or someone you know used to play for the club but have since lost touch, they want to hear from you.

To order a commemorative shirt and for more information visit haverhillrugbyclub50th.com, email haverhillrfc50th@uwclub.net or call 07796436172.

Songster's chance to shine

A MUSICIAN will put his writing skills to the test in an upcoming song competition.

Dale Bennett, who lives in Haverhill, will compete in the regional final of the Future Music Songwriting Competition in Chelmsford later this month.

The 22-year-old wowed the judges with his single Stay Away, which he had to play on a 3-year-old's keyboard after a technical hitch with his backing track.

Dale, of Calford Drive, said: "The keys on it were feather light – I had to play it on the spot for the audition and it put me right off."

"But I got through."

Stay Away also scored highly in the UK Songwriting Contest last year – but with this competition launching the careers of Birdy, Lucy Spraggan and Luke Friend, Dale is hoping for even more exposure than ever before.

DEBRA FOX

If successful in the regional, which takes place on March 22, Dale will go on to perform in the grand final in Camden.

He added: "I am looking forward to it – but I don't know what to expect."

Dale has recently finished recording his new album, which is due for release in the summer.

If you want to attend the competition and support Dale, visit dalebennett-music.com for tickets.

They cost £8, and the regional final starts at 7.30pm at the Marconi Social Club.

TALENT: Dale Bennett will take part in a songwriting competition on March 22 in Chelmsford.

Gurteen plan on agenda

THE future of a number of listed buildings will be discussed by councillors today.

Some of the Gurteen buildings in Haverhill town centre are proposed for demolition – and, after months of waiting, an application will finally go before the planning committee at St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

The affected buildings, despite being Grade II listed, are of "less historical significance" and, according to a document from Code Development Planners, demolishing them would help preserve the future of the more important buildings.

Opinion on what should happen to the buildings has been split – with some in favour of preserving as many historical buildings as possible, and others calling for the Gurteen buildings to be opened up to the public and developed as proposed.

Councillors at the Development Control Committee will hear the plans today.

The meeting is at West Suffolk House, Bury St Edmunds, from 10am. Visit haverhillweeklynews.co.uk for the latest updates.

the GUIDE

Simon Amstell

HOW could you not love BAFTA nominated, British Comedy Award-winning stand-up Simon Amstell?

The scrawny former Nevermind The Buzzcocks and Popworld host (they should never have let him go), is back with his fourth stand-up tour to date, To Be Free.

Now 35, the Essex born comic is set to tackle all the big issues – freedom, joy, love, death, adventure, art, peace, sex, regret, success, eating, suffering, dreaming, healing, forgiving etc. – with his usual lashings of self-deprecation and introspection.

Despite the topics on offer, wittiness is pretty much guaranteed (although he is known to ramble and lose his thread, occasionally).

This, after all is a comedian who got sacked from his first job on Nickelodeon for being “sarcastic and mean” to children, then went on to make Popworld worthy of a cult following (don't say you weren't addicted, it was vital viewing). He continued to use his talents for embarrassing and winding people up when he took over hosting on Nevermind The Buzzcocks, if you remember poor Preston from the Ordinary Boys, who didn't seem to understand the rules ...

Amstell left to focus on his stand-up career, and it was a good move for him; not so much for Buzzcocks fans (sob). He's got two British Comedy Awards to his name, sells out major venues (Cambridge Junction included) without a problem and had much success with his semi-autobiographical BBC sitcom, Grandma's House, and is still as dishevelled and charming as ever.

There'll also be support from Norwegian comic Daniel Simonsen, who we must say is very, very funny. Arguably funny enough to make Amstell more anxious than usual...

■ Simon Amstell: To Be Free, March 10-11, at 8pm, Cambridge Junction, SOLD OUT.

Clean Bandit

Clean Bandit have had a mad 12 months, starting with the release of their debut album and culminating in winning a Grammy. ELLA WALKER spoke to violinist Milan Neil Amin-Smith to find out how it feels to return to Cambridge, the city where it all began for them

RETURNING TO CAMBRIDGE:
Clean Bandit

"ASK them why they've sold out and only make dance music now, and why they've forgotten about their original fans!?"

You might think it'd be tricky to get truly riled up by BBC Radio 1 darlings Clean Bandit, but my friend managed it the day before I interviewed the band's categorically beautiful, strongly jawed violinist, Milan Neil Amin-Smith.

It might have been the Grammy that provoked her.

Two nights earlier the four-piece – who formed while studying at Jesus College, Cambridge, in 2006 – swanned past mighty fellow nominees Basement Jaxx, Disclosure, Duke Dumont and ZHU to claim Best Dance Recording for their 2014 hit Rather Be, featuring Jess Glynne.

You see, when Clean Bandit first started out they made electro-chamber music with a grimy, hip-hop tilt. They might have liked dancing – preferably at the now sadly defunct Kambar in Cambridge, where they hosted their own club night – but they certainly were no dance outfit.

Made up of Amin-Smith, cellist Grace Chatto, and Patterson brothers Jack (bass, sax, deck) and Luke (drums), as well as an array of guest vocalists, Clean Bandit came about after Jack began syphoning electronic ideas he had and mixing them in with classical recordings he'd made of Neil and Grace's string quartet. They realised he was on to something, picked a name (Clean Bandit translates as "complete bas*" in Russian), and in April 2013 made their single chart debut. The bassy, grimy Mozart's House peaked at number 17, before being almost entirely eclipsed by the release of Rather Be, which Jack co-wrote with Disclosure's lyricist Jimmy Napes.

"Our sound has changed quite a lot," admits Neil in a laconic drawl, punctuated by the odd jet-lag-induced yawn.

"In the early days we sampled a lot of classical music and also our instrumentals were much more hip-hop, but obviously now we mostly make housey-dance music and use original singing parts."

Unfortunately for my friend, and all those other Clean Bandit fans who got hooked before Rather Be took to searing through the airwaves on what feels like an hourly loop, even a year on, they're not about to start backtracking now.

"I think we might possibly go a bit more hip-hop, but I don't think there's much chance of us going back to using more classical samples because [how we're doing it now] just gives us more freedom."

I have to ask, despite the Grammy, and a recent BRIT Award nomination for Best British Single, are they sick of playing Rather Be yet?

"No actually! I guess it's because every time we play it, we're playing it to a different crowd, and for them it's the first time they've seen or heard this massive song being played live, and so you always get that from the audience: the sense of newness."

This isn't Neil being diplomatic either, he genuinely sounds like he's still excited to play the number one hit night after night after night – which bodes well; Clean Bandit sold out their upcoming Cambridge Corn Exchange gig almost instantly.

"We're actually going to come up the night before so that we can have a little reunion with the city," he says languidly.

"I can't say I did row, but I think my lasting memories of the city will just be what an incredible place it was to walk around every day."

The band was also nominated twice in last week's Brit Awards but were beaten in the Best British Single category by Mark Ronson featuring Bruno Mars with Uptown Funk, and Best British Group by Royal Blood.

Even though they didn't win, no-one can prise that Grammy off them. He says: "It was quite an amazing thing. We weren't expecting it at all and when they announced it, it was such a shock but we had a really good time."

gardening

Pick of the gifts for Mother's Day

AS spring arrives, so do new gardening tools, sundries, gadgets and seeds, which are timely additions to the wealth of possible presents to give your gardening mum on Mother's Day, Sunday, March 15.

I broke my old garden fork last year, so if my children are reading this, can you get me a new one, preferably one of the new Xact range from Fiskars (www.fiskars.com), as they are lightweight but have heavy duty forged steel forks and, more importantly, come in two lengths? Priced £34.99 for the medium or £39.99 for the large, they are available in garden centres, DIY stores and online.

The winter inevitably leads to cracked terracotta pots, so now's the chance to find some stylish, fun replacements. Homebase (www.homebase.co.uk) has a new 30cm owl planter which will look great planted with rockery stalwarts, such as alpine phlox or aubrieta, or summer favourites like dwarf lavender. Available in selected stores now or online from the first week of March, priced £19.99.

There are so many gardening gloves on the market, the mum who needs a new pair will be spoiled for choice, but Burgon & Ball's new Love The Glove collection will take some beating. They feature advanced two-way stretch, breathable mesh and ultra-soft yet hard-wearing cushioned fabric. Available in 12 styles and colours, priced £12.95-£14.95, available from all good garden centres and www.burgonandball.com.

Those who love to grow plants from seed should look at Johnsons Designer Garden Collections, a new 'border in a box' concept, with collections including Cottage Garden, Fragrant and Cut, and Wildlife-Attracting Designer Garden Collections. Each box contains 12 packets of annual and perennial flower seed varieties, plus an easy-to-follow seed sowing and planting plan. All are presented in a beautiful box with border designs by leading illustrator and printmaker Hannah McVicar. Priced £9.99, available from garden centres, supermarkets and leading DIY stores and at www.johnsons-seeds.com.

She can store her seeds in one of Suttons' new collectable seed tins, in six new designs including chillies and pepper, herbs, pea and bean and scented flower. The range costs £4.99 (apart from the large Pea & Bean, which is £6.99). Available from www.suttons.co.uk.

For the mum who likes music while she works, the Roberts Travel Pad may be an ideal gift, as it's small, portable and has Bluetooth technology, to connect with any Bluetooth mobile device, so you can play music from your mobile. It also has HFP (Hands Free Profile) which means phone calls to a paired phone can be answered from the Travel Pad itself, while it acts as both a speaker and microphone. Priced £80, available from www.robertsradio.co.uk.

Brighten up your mum's tool collection with a Spear & Jackson (www.spear-and-jackson.com) cutting set from its new 'COLOURS' collection, featuring trowel and fork sets, secateurs and mini snips and secateurs and shears gift sets in dazzling shades of pink, green, blue and red. My favourite is the bypass secateurs and bypass lopper set in a rather fetching blue, priced £24.99, available from independent garden centres and online from www.amazon.co.uk.

Afternoon tea in the garden, or indoors, can be brightened up by buying your mother a gorgeous new tea set with floral notes – check out Dobbies new Sweet Pea set, pictured, featuring two-tier cake stand (£18), afternoon tea set (£10), flower and garden jug (£8), sweet pea teapot (£15) and sugar and cream (£15). Available from Dobbies garden centres nationwide (www.dobbies.com).

For mums who like floral toiletries, the RHS Floral Hand & Nail Cream collection in scents of sweet pea, rose and hibiscus makes a gorgeous gift (£15, 3x50ml), blending the natural aromas of RHS gardens. ■ Fancy a bit of alternative country music? Look no further, HANK WANGFORD AND THE LOST COWBOYS will be at the arts centre on Saturday at 8pm. If Daniel O'Donnell is the brightly scrubbed face of British country music then Hank is its guilty conscience, its dark and troubled grubby soul. Hank has picked at the miserable underbelly of country music for 28 years, inspiring the likes of Billy Bragg, The The, The Alabama Three and other alternative country musicians.

■ The arts centre has a recorded broadcast of ROMEO AND JULIET by The Bolshoi Ballet on Sunday at 3pm. Written in 1595, Shakespeare's timeless tragic love story was the inspiration for Prokofiev's much-loved ballet, which is packed with famous melodies. Its centrepiece is the instantly recognisable, supremely dramatic Dance of the Knights, the theme tune for The Apprentice.

■ Stoke College return to the arts centre with STORMY WEATHER, a vibrant musical extravaganza on Tuesday, March 10, and Thursday, March 12, at 7pm. With a live band and set against the back drop of Shakespeare's The Tempest, join the cast on their journey to an unknown island of magic, betrayal and romance. Will the outcome be resolution or

■ The arts centre has a live broadcast by the English National Opera of LA TRAVIATA, the moving story of the beautiful but fragile courtesan Violetta, who is coerced into sacrificing her one hope of personal happiness for the sake of her lover's reputation on Wednesday, March 11, at 7.30pm. Verdi's masterpiece combines compelling characters with powerful, recognisable melodies and the themes of passionate love and tragic death are treated with modern staging.

■ As THE THEORY OF EVERYTHING (12A) has proved so popular, especially Monday's matinee which completely sold out, the arts centre has scheduled another screening on Wednesday, March 11, at 1.30pm for those who have missed out.

■ Juggling some angry Russians, the British MI5, his impossibly leggy wife and an international terrorist, Charlie Mortdecai, debonair art dealer and part-time rogue, traverses the globe. He is armed only with his good looks and special charm in a race to recover a stolen painting that will lead him to a bank account filled with Nazi gold. With a stellar cast including Johnny Depp as Mortdecai, Olivia Munn, Ewan McGregor and Gwyneth Paltrow, MORTDECAI (12A) is showing on Friday, March 13, at 7.30pm.

■ Events to look forward to include Centre Stage Company's The Vicar of Dibley from Thursday, March 19, to Saturday, March 21, a recorded broadcast of Hamlet with Maxine Peake on Monday, March 23, at 7.30pm from the Royal Exchange Theatre, and United We Stand from Townsend Productions, an account of the 1972 Builders' Strike on Wednesday, March 25, at 7.30pm.

Latest Range Rover Evoque is a 68mpg diesel treat

AN all-new diesel engine will let the Range Rover Evoque hit 68mpg, its makers claim.

Land Rover is aiming to add frugality to the Evoque's stylish portfolio of trim grades, materials options and paint colours.

Hand-in-hand with the new, much-improved fuel economy, the 'Ingenium' eD4 diesel has been signed off with just 109g/km of CO2 emissions for the entry-level front-wheel drive version, putting the car in the £20 per year road tax bracket.

The improvements come at the same time as a minor series of visual updates to the popular compact SUV.

Land Rovers' fuel economy has come under fire in recent years, with the predominantly diesel ranges falling well behind the times for efficiency. However, as the firm itself admits, sales have not suffered.

As well as the 148bhp eD4 engine, there is a 178bhp version that achieves 59mpg and emissions from 125g/km.

Citroen unveils fun MPV with Berlingo Multispace

WOULD you choose a car because it was cheerful? That's how Citroen is describing the new Berlingo MPV.

The French firm cites cheerfulness as one of the chief attributes,

thanks to the practical storage

solutions,

soft,

comfortable

ride and handy

arrangement

of three independent seats in the second row.

In the boot there's a whopping 675 litres of space, which rises to a van-like 3,000 litres with the rear seats folded.

The Berlingo Multispace is in fact based on a panel van, using the natural spaciousness of the platform to include ceiling-mounted storage compartments, hidden drawers and an opening tailgate window. There are 170 litres of interior storage space.

Citroen calls the car 'robust and friendly', with a quiet cabin thanks to new aerodynamic tweaks. The under-side of the chassis has gravel protection for loose surfaces.

Diesel-only options vary from 74bhp to 118bhp.

Hero Hunt steers Haverhill home

ADAM Hunt scored a hat-trick of tries as Haverhill won 40-5 against Mildenhall Red Lodge in Eastern Counties Greene King Division Two West.

Haverhill's pack proved too strong for their opponents, dominating throughout to provide the platform for the backs to shine.

An angled run from full-back Doyle Onley saw him released by Hunt to charge through from 30 yards to score under the posts, with Kieron Ewens kicking the conversion.

Hunt featured again when he went on a 40-metre run to touch down, and Ewens added the extras.

Hunt had his name on the score sheet for a second time when a break of 50 metres saw him score under the posts, and Ewens kicked the conversion.

Mildenhall completed the half with a long-range intercept try.

Playing into the strong wind in the second half, Darren Lister smashed his way over to make it 26-5, and Ewens was also successful with the conversion.

Onley ran 60 metres before putting in Hunt to score his third try, under the posts. Ewens landed the conversion.

And with five minutes remaining, Haverhill took a scrum after being awarded a penalty and Ricky Brown crossed the whitewash to complete the win.

> Football: Thurlow Nunn League

Sigler strikes to end winless run

CHARLIE Sigler's first goal for Haverhill Rovers was enough to ensure the side ended a run of nine games without a win in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Sigler struck in the 37th minute of Saturday's home clash with Fakenham Town, finishing after a mis-hit shot from Dalton O'Brien fell into his path.

Fakenham almost equalised in the 67th minute, only for Daniel Williams' effort to hit the post under pressure from Rovers keeper Jack Cherry.

O'Brien went close for Rovers and Fakenham hit the post again late on as the hosts emerged victorious.

On Tuesday Rovers lost 8-1 at home to Ipswich Wanderers, Ollie Stevenson scoring their only goal.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough earned a point as they drew

1-1 away to Stowmarket Town.

Jon Milne headed Borough into the lead after debutant Chris Thomas had flicked on Harry Halls' corner.

Stowmarket were back in it two minutes before half time, but Borough held out for a draw.

Last night, Borough won 2-1 at home to King's Lynn Town reserves with goals from player-manager Martin Westcott and Luke Latham.
